CATALOG DESCRIPTION

A survey of the basic functions, objectives, and structure of a modern business within the framework of a free-enterprise system and the value of the continuing organization. The course also involves a survey of the ways of managing a firm's resources via planning, organizing, directing, and controlling. The latter focus is given to marketing, with attention to customer-related products, pricing, distribution and promotion. The course discusses specialization and interdependence of business functions and skills in decision-making. It is a prerequisite for all business major courses except accounting, ethics, and statistics. (3 units)

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

1. To understand the concept of economic systems, competition, and business enterprises in the international marketplace.
2. To gain knowledge of business ethics and laws, accounting and computer data systems by which businesses are controlled, banking and securities.
3. To understand the types of business ownership for small and large enterprises, organizational structures and management function.
4. To discuss the fundamentals of insurance, production, marketing, human resources, and employee motivation.
